Sommario/riassunto	Ernie O'Malley (1897-1957) was one of the most talented and colourful of modern Irish republicans. A leader in the 1916-1923 Revolution, and a contemporary of Michael Collins and Eamon de Valera, he subsequently penned two classic autobiographical accounts of the struggle in later years: On Another Man's Wound and The Singing Flame . He travelled widely in Europe and America, mixing with leading artistic and literary figures such as Georgia O'Keefe and Samuel Beckett, and celebrities like John Wayne. This thematic biography draws heavily on previously unseen archival material, and will be essen
