

|                         |  |
|-------------------------|--|
| 1. Record Nr.           | UNINA9910792503503321  |
| Autore                  | Nason Rick   |
| Titolo                  | Rethinking risk management : critically examining old ideas and new concepts / Rick Nason  |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa      | New York, New York (222 East 46th Street, New York, NY 10017) : , : Business Expert Press, , 2017  |
| ISBN                    | 1-63157-542-2  |
| Edizione                | [First edition.]   |
| Descrizione fisica      | 1 online resource (xvii, 124 pages)  |
| Collana                 | Finance and financial management collection, , 2331-0057   |
| Disciplina              | 658.155  |
| Soggetti                | Risk managementLibros electronicos.  |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese  |
| Formato                 | Materiale a stampa   |
| Livello bibliografico   | Monografia   |
| Nota di bibliografia    | Includes bibliographical references and index.   |
| Nota di contenuto       | 1. What is risk? -- 2. Have we lost the plot? -- 3. What is complexity? -- 4. What causes risk? -- 5. Are risk frameworks evil? -- 6. Does risk management add value? -- 7. Should risk management be based on process or judgment? -- 8. How do you create a great risk culture? -- 9. Is your risk management too good? -- 10. What is the future of risk management? -- Index.  |
| Sommario/riassunto      | Risk management has become a key factor of successful organizations. Despite risk management's importance, outdated and inappropriate ideas about how to manage risk dominate. This book challenges existing paradigms of risk management and provides readers with new concepts and tools for the current dynamic risk management environment. This book has two major origins: The first is a series of executive workshops that I have been conducting for the last several years for a major international company. The second origin is an innovative and popular course on enterprise risk management that I have developed and delivered for MBA students. The book reflects these two origins in that it covers both the current base of risk management knowledge but critically examines that base by exploring emerging risk management ideas and concepts. The framework for the book is a series of questions that allows for an interesting and thought-provoking look at current ideas and forward-looking concepts. This book, intended for senior managers, directors, risk | managers, students of risk management, and all others who need to be concerned about risk management and strategy, provides a solid base for not only understanding current best practice in risk management, but also the conceptual tools for exploiting emerging risk management technologies, metrics, regulations, and ideas. The central thesis is that risk management is a value-adding activity that all types of organizations, public, private as well as not-for-profit, can use for competitive advantage and maximum effectiveness.

|                         |   |
|-------------------------|---|
| 2. Record Nr.           | UNINA9910483712103321   |
| Autore                  | Amos N. Scott   |
| Titolo                  | Bucer, Ephesians and Biblical Humanism : The Exegete as Theologian / / by N. Scott Amos   |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa      | Cham : , : Springer International Publishing : , : Imprint : Springer, , 2015   |
| ISBN                    | 3-319-10238-9   |
| Edizione                | [1st ed. 2015.]   |
| Descrizione fisica      | 1 online resource (228 p.)  |
| Collana                 | Studies in Early Modern Religious Tradition, Culture and Society, , 1572-5596 ; ; 7   |
| Disciplina              | 227.5007  |
| Soggetti                | ReligionChurch and educationHistoryReligious Studies, generalReligion and EducationHistory, general   |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese   |
| Formato                 | Materiale a stampa  |
| Livello bibliografico   | Monografia  |
| Note generali           | Description based upon print version of record.   |
| Nota di bibliografia    | Includes bibliographical references and index.  |
| Nota di contenuto       | Chapter 1 : Introduction -- PART I : HISTORICAL CONTEXT -- Chapter 2: The Old Theology and the New Learning at Cambridge to 1549 -- Chapter 3: "Remember the Readings and Preachings of God's Prophet and True Preacher, Martin Bucer": Bucer's Sojourn in Cambridge, 1549-1551 -- PART II: THE PRAELECTIONES AS AN EXERCISE IN BIBLICAL-HUMANIST METHOD -- Chapter 4: "Ratio seu Methodus Martini Buceri": Bucer's Prefatory Lectures on Ephesians and His Use of Biblical |

Humanist Theological Method -- Chapter 5: "An Exposition of the Whole Doctrine of Salvation": Bucer's Deployment of Biblical Humanist Method in Exegesis and Theology and the Shape of the 1550 Ephesians Lectures as a Whole -- Chapter 6: Theology in an Exegetical Context: Bucer on Ephesians 1:3-6 and the Doctrine of Election -- Chapter 7: Theology in an Exegetical Context: Bucer on Ephesians 1:13-18 and the Doctrine of Faith -- Chapter 8: Conclusion.

---

Sommario/riassunto

This book considers Martin Bucer (1491-1551) as a teacher of theology, focusing on his time as Regius Professor of Divinity at the University of Cambridge between 1549 and 1551. The book is centered on Bucer's Cambridge lectures on Ephesians (1550-1551), analyzing them to find out how they display his method of teaching and "doing" theology, and in particular how they shed light on the relationship between biblical exegesis and theological formulation as he understood it. Divided into two interconnected parts, the first part establishes the historical context for the lectures, including a broad sketch of scholastic method in theology and the biblical humanist critique of, and alternative to, that method. The second part closely examines Bucer's practice in his Cambridge lectures, showing the extent to which he was a theologian of the biblical humanist school, influenced (from early in his career) by the method Erasmus set forth in the Ratio Verae Theologiae in which true theology begins, ends, and is best done as an exercise in the exegesis of the Word of God.

---