

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910793491903321
Autore	Barbulescu Roxana
Titolo	Migrant integration in a changing Europe : immigrants, European citizens, and co-ethnics in Italy and Spain / / Roxana Barbulescu
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Notre Dame, Indiana : , : University of Notre Dame Press, , [2019] ©2019
ISBN	0-268-10440-9 0-268-10439-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (x, 293 pages) : illustrations
Collana	Kellogg Institute Series on Democracy and Development
Disciplina	325.4
Soggetti	Emigration et immigration - Espagne - Etudes de cas Emigration et immigration - Italie - Etudes de cas Emigration et immigration - Politique publique - Europe Integration sociale - Europe - Etudes de cas Immigres - Acculturation - Europe - Etudes de cas Social integration Immigrants - Cultural assimilation Emigration and immigration - Government policy Emigration and immigration Social integration - Europe Immigrants - Cultural assimilation - Europe Europe Emigration and immigration Government policy Spain Emigration and immigration Case studies Italy Emigration and immigration Case studies
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Significantly revised version of author's thesis (doctoral)--European University Institute, 2013, titled The politics of immigrant integration in post-enlargement Europe migrants : co-ethnics and European citizens in Italy and Spain.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction -- Migrant integration and the state -- Migration in Italy and Spain and integration outcomes -- Varieties of denizenship : rights regimes and the importance of (not) being an EU citizen -- Interventionist states and the making of integration duties : when, how, and for whom do states pursue integration? -- Conclusion. The freedom to not integrate : multicultural integration amidst rising neoassimilation.

Sommario/riassunto

"In this rich study, Roxana Barbulescu examines the transformation of state-led immigrant integration in two relatively new immigration countries in Western Europe: Italy and Spain. The book is comparative in approach and seeks to explain states' immigrant integration strategies across national, regional, and city-level decision and policy making. Barbulescu argues that states pursue no one-size-fits-all strategy for the integration of migrants, but rather simultaneously pursue multiple strategies that vary greatly for different groups. Two main integration strategies stand out. The first one targets non-European citizens and is assimilationist in character and based on interventionist principles according to which the government actively pursues the inclusion of migrants. The second strategy targets EU citizens and is a laissez-faire scenario where foreigners enjoy rights and live their entire lives in the host country without the state or the local authorities seeking their integration"--
