

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910793516003321
Titolo	Diversity and triumphs of navigating the terrain of academe : international perspectives // edited by Raphael Heaggans, and Henry T. Frierson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bingley, England : , : Emerald Publishing, , 2019 ©2019
ISBN	1-78973-609-9 1-78973-607-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (159 pages)
Collana	Diversity in higher education, , 1479-3644 ; ; volume 23
Disciplina	378.19829
Soggetti	Minorities in higher education Racism in higher education Sexism in higher education Discrimination in higher education Education - Higher Higher & further education, tertiary education
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Prelims -- The great gulf between our progress yesterday and our survival tomorrow: swimming in the academe ocean -- Talk is cheap: the prospects and problems with campus conversations on race -- Navigating through PHD programs: experiences of Ghanaian PHD graduates from universities across the globe -- Walk steady, keep going: navigational moves of empowerment, resistance, and sustenance in the academy -- Progressing culturally responsive assessment for higher education institutions -- Navigating the politics of the academe -- Negotiating university teaching in Canada using critical race theory: having to continually prove oneself in academia -- "She don't [does not] belong here:" silver linings amid the ivory tower -- Index.
Sommario/riassunto	Many challenges are faced by under-represented groups in academia. Difficulties during the tenure process, prejudice stemming from affirmative action and higher levels of scrutiny than their colleagues are just a few tribulations experienced by faculty members from minority groups that have gone unnoticed and often ignored. The contributors of Diversity and Triumphs of Navigating the Terrain of Academe share these narratives and tell of how faculty navigate through situations such as microaggressions, racism and sexism. By taking an anecdotal approach, this volume captures the experiences of those who teach at institutions dominated by white males in the United States and abroad. This book is written as a treatise to dismantle the powers of discriminatory incubuses that have haunted institutions of higher learning, one narrative at a time. Some of these institutions are still making history in hiring its first person of color within its departments. Collectively, the contributors' experiences serve as instrumentalities that work together to initiate dialogue among current and future members of the professoriate, making this title an invaluable text for researchers and higher education administrators alike.
