

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910793565403321
Autore	Green Richard T (Professor of public administration)
Titolo	Alexander Hamilton's public administration // Richard T. Green
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Tuscaloosa : , : The University of Alabama Press, , [2019] ©2019
ISBN	0-8173-9256-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (271 pages)
Disciplina	973.4092
Soggetti	Political science - United States - History Republicanism - United States - History Public administration - United States - Philosophy United States Politics and government 1775-1783 United States Politics and government 1783-1809
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Hamilton's Constitutional republic -- The energetic executive in Constitutional context -- Administrative jurisprudence -- Administrative responsibility -- Public finance and political economy: building confidence and public trust -- Military and foreign affairs for the republic -- The Hamiltonian legacy.
Sommario/riassunto	"Hamilton's Public Administration deals with Hamilton as both a founder of the American republic, steeped in the currents of political philosophy and science of his day, and as its chief administrative theorist and craftsman, deeply involved in establishing the early institutions and policies that would bring his interpretation of the written Constitution to life. Accordingly, this book addresses (1) the complex mix of classical and modern ideas which informed his vision of a modern commercial and administrative republic, (2) the administrative ideas, institutions and practices which flowed from that vision, and (3) the substantive policies he deemed essential to its realization. The analysis flows from immersion in his extant papers (reports, letters, pamphlets, and essays running to thirty-one volumes in total) and many thematic and biographical works on his life. It aims to provide a comprehensive explanation of his theoretical contributions, and a richly detailed account of his ideas and practices in historical context"--
