

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910793615503321
Autore	Shaw Kent <1971->
Titolo	Too numerous // Kent Shaw
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Amherst ; ; Boston : , : University of Massachusetts Press, , [2019] ©2019
ISBN	1-61376-680-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (vii, 69 pages)
Collana	Juniper Prize for Poetry
Disciplina	818.609
Soggetti	American prose literature - 21st century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	"What does it really mean when people are viewed as bytes of data? And is there beauty or an imaginative potential to information culture and the databases cataloguing it? As Too Numerous reveals, the raw material of bytes and data points can be reshaped and repurposed for ridiculous, melancholic, and even aesthetic purposes. Grappling with an information culture that is both intimidating and daunting, Kent Shaw considers the impersonality represented by the continuing accumulation of personal information and the felicities--and barriers--that result: The us that was inside us was magnificent structures. And they weren't going to grow any larger"--