| Sommario/riassunto      | "The Contributors to this book explore the current situation of North Korea in various aspects and provide policy suggestions for North Korea to become part of the international community and achieve sustainable development. Focussing on three key areas, of economic development: international sectors; agriculture and urban development; and energy and environment, this book sets out recommendations and prospects for North Korea. In each part, authors assess the current situation of North Korea, explore preconditions for becoming a member of international community and lastly provide policy suggestions, which are necessary for the sustainable development of North Korea. They cover a wide range of areas including reforestation, WTO accession, and the potential for economic integration with South Korea. These evaluations draw both on what is understood about the current situation in North Korea and comparisons with other countries and territories. A valuable resource for scholars and policy planners with a focus on North Korea"-- |
