

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910795614403321
Autore	Jurkovich Michelle <1983->
Titolo	Feeding the hungry : advocacy and blame in the global fight against hunger // Michelle Jurkovich [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Ithaca : , : Cornell University Press, , 2021
ISBN	1-5017-5117-4 1-5017-5116-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (184 pages) : illustrations
Collana	Cornell scholarship online
Disciplina	363.8
Soggetti	Food relief - Political aspects Right to food Hunger - Political aspects Food security - Political aspects Food relief - International cooperation Hunger - Prevention - International cooperation
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Previously issued in print: 2020.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Putting Hunger on the Agenda -- How to Think about Advocacy -- Not All Human Rights Have Norms -- Hunger at the Nexus of Rights and Development -- The Limits of Law.
Sommario/riassunto	Food insecurity poses one of the most pressing development and human security challenges in the world. This book examines the social and normative environments in which international anti-hunger organizations are working and argues that despite international law ascribing responsibility to national governments to ensure the right to food of their citizens, there is no shared social consensus on who ought to do what to solve the hunger problem. The book provides a new analytic model of transnational advocacy. In investigating advocacy around a critical economic and social right - the right to food - the book challenges existing understandings of the relationships among human rights, norms, and laws. Most important, the book provides an expanded conceptual tool kit with which we can examine and understand the social and moral forces at play in rights advocacy.

