

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910797143303321
Titolo	Eurasianism and the European far right : reshaping the Europe-Russia relationship // edited by Marlene Laruelle ; contributors, Emel Akcali [and ten others]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Lexington Books, , 2015 ©2015
ISBN	1-4985-1069-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (294 p.)
Disciplina	327.4047
Soggetti	Eurasian school Radicalism - Russia (Federation) Radicalism - Europe, Western Ideology - Political aspects - Europe, Western Ideology - Political aspects - Russia (Federation) Europe, Western Relations Russia (Federation) Russia (Federation) Relations Europe, Western Europe, Western Politics and government 1989- Russia (Federation) Politics and government 1991-
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword; Introduction; 1 Dangerous Liaisons; Part I: Alexander Dugin's Trajectory: Mediating European Far Right to Russia; 2 Alexander Dugin and the West European New Right, 1989-1994; 3 Moscow State University's Department of Sociology and the Climate of Opinion in Post-Soviet Russia; Part II: France, Italy, and Spain: Dugin's European Cradles; 4 A Long-Lasting Friendship; 5 From Evola to Dugin; 6 Arriba Eurasia?; Part III: Turkey, Hungary, and Greece: Dugin's New Conquests; 7 "Failed Exodus"; 8 Deciphering Eurasianism in Hungary; 9 The Dawning of Europe and Eurasia? Part IV: Conclusion: The European Far Right at Moscow's Service?10 Far-Right Election Observation Monitors in the Service of the Kremlin's Foreign Policy; References; Index; About the Contributors

Sommario/riassunto

This book offers a unique insight on the main far-right actors and ideological trends that push, on both sides, for reshaping the Europe-Russia relations and for the emergence of a new pan-European illiberal ideology.
