

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910797252003321
Autore	Bradwin Edmund W (Edmund William), <1877-1954, >
Titolo	The bunkhouse man : a study of work and pay in the camps of Canada, 1903-1914 // Edmund Bradwin ; with an introduction by Jean Burnet
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto, [Ontario] : , : University of Toronto Press, , 1972 ©1972
ISBN	1-4426-5076-1 1-4426-3238-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (267 p.)
Collana	The Social history of Canada
Disciplina	331.5/42/0971
Soggetti	Labor camps - Canada Contract labor - Canada Wages - Canada Railroad construction workers - Canada Electronic books. Canada
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"Life and labour in the northern work camps"--Cover.
Nota di contenuto	Frontmatter -- An introduction -- Contents -- Preface -- Introduction -- 1. The background of the navy -- 2. The contract system on railway construction -- 3. Work and pay in isolated camps -- 4. Some ethnic groupings among campmen -- 5. When the campman becomes a contractor -- 6. Shacks and shack-men on railway construction -- 7. The medical system on frontier works -- 8. Some alternative employments for workers in camps -- 9. What constitutes real wages for the bunkhouse man? -- 10. What's wrong with the contract system? -- 11 Ottawa and the camps -- 12. The bunkhouse man and public opinion -- 13. The challenge of the migratory workers -- Conclusion -- Appendices -- Backmatter
Sommario/riassunto	Journalists and poets, economists and political historians, have told the story of Canada's railways, but their accounts pay little attention to the workers who built them.€ The Bunkhouse Man €is the only study devoted to these men and their lives in construction camps.

