

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910797351903321
Titolo	North America, time for a new focus // David H. Petraeus and Robert B. Zoellick, chairs ; Shannon K. O'Neil, project director
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, New York : , : Council on Foreign Relations, , 2014 Ottawa, Ontario : , : Canadian Electronic Library, , 2015
ISBN	0-87609-633-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (138 p.)
Collana	Independent task force report ; ; no. 71
Disciplina	382.917
Soggetti	Regionalism - Political aspects - North America North America Politics and government 21st century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (pages 86-95).
Nota di contenuto	Foreword -- Acknowledgments -- Acronyms -- Task force report -- Executive summary -- Introduction: the importance of North America -- North American energy interdependence -- North American economic competitiveness -- North American security -- North American community -- Recommendations -- Conclusion: the new world of North America -- Additional or dissenting views -- Endnotes -- Task force members -- Task force observers.
Sommario/riassunto	North America was once called the New World. The people, their ideas, and the resources of the continent shaped the histories of the Old World--East and West. Today, North America is home to almost five hundred million people living in three vibrant democracies. If the three North American countries deepen their integration and cooperation, they have the potential to again shape world affairs for generations to come. For reasons of history and political culture, the United States, Canada, and Mexico are each highly protective of national sovereignty and independence. Yet twenty years ago, the three countries instituted a novel project to deepen integration while respecting sovereignty. Moreover, their special partnership bridged the North-South divide between developed and developing economies. The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) has been the cornerstone of this new structure. The new post-Cold War North America was conceived as an integrated economy within a global system, not as a protected bloc or experiment in shared sovereignty, as was the case with the European Union.
