

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910797372503321
Autore	Stormer Nathan <1966->
Titolo	Sign of pathology : U. S. medical rhetoric on abortion, 1800s-1960s // Nathan Stormer
Pubbl/distr/stampa	University Park, Pennsylvania : , : Pennsylvania State University Press, , [2015] ©2015
ISBN	0-271-06688-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xi, 256 pages)
Collana	The RSA series in transdisciplinary rhetoric
Disciplina	363.460973
Soggetti	Abortion - United States - History Rhetoric
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction : struggling through life -- When abortion became a political-economic problem -- Remembering, forgetting, and the secrets of life -- "White man's plague" : anti-Malthusian memory work at the fin de siecle -- "More wisdom in living" : neo-Malthusian memory work at midcentury -- "The lesser of threatened evils" : therapeutic amnesias -- Conclusion : seeking immunity.
Sommario/riassunto	"Examines the medical discourse on abortion in the United States from the 1800s to the 1960s. Demonstrates that abortion was seen as a sign of social pathology indicating undoing of civilization"--Provided by publisher.