

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910797852203321
Titolo	Latina/o college student leadership emerging : theory, promising practice // edited by Adele Lozano
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Lexington Books, , 2015 ©2015
ISBN	1-4985-2023-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (230 p.)
Disciplina	378.1982968073
Soggetti	Hispanic Americans - Education (Higher) - United States Hispanic American college students - United States - Leadership Hispanic American leadership
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword; Acknowledgments; Introduction; I: Theoretical Perspectives, Models, and Research; 1 Re-Imagining Latina/o Student Success at a Historically White Institution; 2 Never Created with Nosotros in Mind; 3 Latin@ Student Organizations as Pathways to Leadership Development; 4 Leadership and Identity; II: Promising Practices; 5 Voices on the Margin; 6 Latino/a Leadership Retreats; 7 El Día de los Muertos, Chicana/o Studies and Cultural Centers; 8 From the Margins to the Forefront; III: New Approaches to Leadership Development; 9 UndocuLeadership 10 Applying White Followership in Campus OrganizingBibliography; Index; About the Editor and Contributors
Sommario/riassunto	This book examines Latina/o college student leadership and leadership development in higher education. Lozano analyzes emerging frameworks, empirical research, leadership models, essays, and promising practices to provide insight into how Latina/o students experience and promote leadership in higher education.