

|                         |   |
|-------------------------|---|
| 1. Record Nr.           | UNINA9910798074003321   |
| Autore                  | Block Daniel <1967->  |
| Titolo                  | Chicago : a food biography // Daniel R. Block and Howard Rosing   |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa      | Lanham, Maryland : , : Rowman & Littlefield, , 2015©2015  |
| ISBN                    | 1-4422-2727-3   |
| Descrizione fisica      | 1 online resource (342 p.)  |
| Collana                 | Big City Food Biographies Series  |
| Disciplina              | 641.59773/11  |
| Soggetti                | Food - Illinois - Chicago - HistoryFood industry and trade - Illinois - Chicago - HistoryGrocers - Illinois - Chicago - HistoryRestaurants - Illinois - Chicago - HistoryCooking, American - Midwestern style - HistoryChicago (Ill.) History   |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese   |
| Formato                 | Materiale a stampa  |
| Livello bibliografico   | Monografia  |
| Note generali           | Description based upon print version of record.   |
| Nota di bibliografia    | Includes bibliographical references and index.  |
| Nota di contenuto       | Contents; Acknowledgments; Introduction; 1 The Material Resources; 2 Indigenous Foodways of Chicago; 3 Migration and the Making of Chicago Foodways; 4 Markets and Retail; 5 From Frontier Town to Industrial and Commercial Food Capital; 6 Eating at the Meeting Place; 7 Chicago Street Food, Recipes, and Cookbooks; Notes; Bibliography; Index |
| Sommario/riassunto      | Chicago, situated at the crossroads of America, has long been known for its restaurants and cuisine. Its food history highlights the history of Chicago as a place where cultures meet and clash and food is manufactured for the world. This book vividly recounts the history of food, dining, and cuisine in this quintessential American city.  |