

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910798092603321
Autore	Rogers Satu
Titolo	How to be a "HIP" college campus : maximizing learning in undergraduate education // Satu Rogers and Jeffery Galle
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Rowman & Littlefield, , 2015 ©2015
ISBN	1-4758-1903-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (125 p.)
Disciplina	378.17
Soggetti	College student development programs College student orientation College environment
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Acknowledgments; Foreword; Preface; HIPs and Why They Matter; Our Contribution; The Context: Oxford College of Emory University; Notes; Introduction; Organization of the Book; Note; Chapter One: High Expectations; High Expectations in Higher Education; Faculty Implementation of High Expectations and Student Response; Notes; Chapter Two: Support through Interaction; Past Studies on Student-Faculty Interaction; Creating and Sustaining High-Quality Relationships with Students; Notes; Chapter Three: Effective Teaching Strategies; Studies and Trends: Effective Teaching Effective Teaching in PracticeNotes; Chapter Four: The Undergraduate Research Experience; Trends, Practices, and Past Studies in Undergraduate Research; Institutional and Faculty Strategies in Undergraduate Research Instruction; Notes; Chapter Five: Collaborative Learning and Leadership Development; The Development and Use of Collaboration as Pedagogy; Benefits of Collaborative Learning; Research on Leadership Experience; Teaching and Learning Collaboration and Leadership; Notes; Chapter Six: Teaching the Whole Student: Taking Learning into the Realm of Experience Past Studies and Practices in Teaching the Whole StudentPast Studies, Practices, and Trends in Experiential Learning, Service Learning; Examples of Teaching the Whole Student and Experiential Learning;

Notes; Chapter Seven: Putting HIPs in Context: (Interactions with Diversity; The Need for Diversity and the Role of a College; Students' Role; Benefits of Diversity; Student and Faculty Views and Best Practices with Diversity; Notes; Chapter Eight: Summary and Conclusions; Findings; Further Implications for Other Institutions; References; About the Authors

Sommario/riassunto

This book is for current and future instructors of college courses, especially those wanting to use more active learning pedagogies. It makes the case for a campus-wide adoption of high-impact practices, across disciplines and in both academic and co-curricular life.
