

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910798206003321
Autore	Ross Fiona <1966->
Titolo	Dining with leaders, rebels, heroes, and outlaws / / Fiona Ross
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Rowman & Littlefield, , 2016 ©2016
ISBN	1-4422-5230-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (221 p.)
Collana	Dining with Destiny Series
Disciplina	641.01/3
Soggetti	Gastronomy Dinners and dining Heads of state Heroes Outlaws Food habits
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Dining With Leaders, Rebels, Heroes, And Outlaws ; Contents ; Acknowledgments; Introduction; Chapter 1: Dining with the Leaders; Golda Meir and Her Kitchen Cabinet; High on the Hog with Lady Bird and Lyndon Johnson; Hunting Boris Yeltsin; It Wasn't All About the Nuts: Jimmy Carter; Midnight Snacks with Maggie Thatcher; Taking Tea with "Tricky Dick" Nixon; Tummy Time with Winston Churchill; French Fries Forever: Bill Clinton; Mikhail Gorbachev Likes It Detente; Anti-Communist Eating with Ronnie and Nancy; Dining in Camelot: JFK and Jackie; Chapter 2: Dining with the Rebels Eating a Way out of Apartheid: Nelson MandelaKarl Marx Liked Picnics; London's Calling Vladimir Lenin; The Manly Meals of Fidel Castro; Mostly Monkeys: Che Guevara; The Porky Predicament of Malcolm X; Osama bin Laden and the Swedish Secret Weapon; It's Never Too Late for Breakfast: Yasser Arafat; Chapter 3: Dining with the Heroes; The Eating Adventures of Lawrence of Arabia; Freudian Suppers with Sigmund Freud; A Last Birthday with Scott of the Antarctic; Finding Vegetarian London: Mahatma Gandhi; The Ultimate Wife Test: Martin Luther King Jr.; Evolutionary Eating with Charles Darwin

The Many Appetites of Albert Einstein Prawns in Space: Men on the Moon; Chapter 4: Dining with the Outlaws; Herr Hitler Made the Coffee: Serving Up Adolf and Eva; The Hungry Hungarian: Marshal Tito; Tea and Cakes with Augusto Pinochet; Saddam Hussein and the Carp Connection; Benito Mussolini Bans Pasta; Dinner with Stalin; Puchero for the Shirtless Ones: Juan and Evita Peron; Eating Bitterness with Chairman Mao; Bibliography; Index

Sommario/riassunto

"This fun and interesting romp through the preferred meals and snacks of leaders, rulers, and outlaws throughout history not only entertains, but also offers a fresh perspective on an often-forgotten aspect of the lives of the celebrated, the revered, the feared, and the failed."--

2. Record Nr.

UNINA9910818042403321

Autore

Kumaraswamy V.

Titolo

Making growth happen in India : a road map for policy success // V. Kumaraswamy

Pubbl/distr/stampa

New Delhi : , : SAGE, , 2016

ISBN

93-5150-431-X

93-5150-791-2

93-5150-107-8

Descrizione fisica

1 online resource : illustrations

Disciplina

338.954

Soggetti

Economic development - India

India Economic policy 21st century

Lingua di pubblicazione

Inglese

Formato

Materiale a stampa

Livello bibliografico

Monografia

Note generali

Description based upon print version of record.

Nota di bibliografia

Includes bibliographical references and index.

Nota di contenuto

Cover; Contents; Foreword; Preface; Acknowledgements; Part I: Evaluating the Current Reform Programmes; 1 - Economic Reforms, Social Fissures; 2 - Laudible Goals Yet Defective Programmes; 3 - Getting Some Basics Right; Part II: Alternative Growth Path; 4 - Reorienting Education To Develop Skills; 5 - Creating Employment; 6 - Creating Appropriate Market Structures; 7 - Taming The Twins; 8 - Creating New Growth Engines; 9 - Feasibility and the Growth Potential of Suggested Action; Conclusion; Epilogue; Bibliography; Index; About the Author

Sommario/riassunto

For India's economic reforms policy to succeed, its programmes should be firmly anchored in the reality of the social and micro-institutional context - something our policy makers often regrettably ignore. To break out of 8 or 9 per cent growth rates, we need more appropriate skill sets, development of proper attitudinal infrastructure, increased capital productivity, a more optimal savings rate and deliberate creation of socially productive market structures in several areas such as healthcare, public distribution and higher education. Employment is the best way to deliver growth to the vast multitude and reconcile the growth fixation of reformists and socialistic obsession with distribution. The book suggests several unconventional growth engines which can potentially deliver both and make 12 per cent growth rates realistically possible.
