

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910798958203321
Autore	McClelland Charles E.
Titolo	Berlin, the mother of all research universities : 1860-1918 // Charles E. McClelland
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Md. : , : Lexington Books, , 2017 ©2017
ISBN	1-4985-4021-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (287 pages)
Disciplina	378.43155
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	From the ashes of defeat to the needs of a new empire -- "The intellectual bodyguard" : the professors of Friedrich Wilhelm University -- State and university: finance, control and academic freedom -- The structural model "modern research university" in national and international comparison -- Students' relationships to professors, finances, and the social order -- Minorities, women, privilege, and subculture -- The public sphere and political culture -- The university in public opinion, issues and movements of the day -- The university and World War I : preparing, fighting, and struggling to recover -- A tarnished model among world adaptors.
Sommario/riassunto	This authoritative study analyzes the development of the modern research university through the original "new model" institution at the University of Berlin. It examines the circumstances of its rise, the scope of its influence, and the challenges that will face university systems based on this model in the twenty-first century.