

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910808288503321
Titolo	Inside the mosaic // edited by Eric Fong
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto, [Ontario] ; ; Buffalo, [New York] ; ; London, [England] : , : University of Toronto Press, , 2006 ©2006
ISBN	1-281-99477-4 9786611994778 1-4426-7617-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (269 p.)
Disciplina	305.9/0691209713541
Soggetti	Immigrants - Ontario - Toronto - Social conditions Immigrants - Cultural assimilation - Ontario - Toronto Multiculturalism - Ontario - Toronto Electronic books. Toronto (Ont.) Emigration and immigration Social aspects Toronto (Ont.) Social conditions
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references at the end of each chapters.
Nota di contenuto	Immigration, social structures, and social processes / Eric Fong -- Immigration and diversity in a changing Canadian city: social bases of intergroup relations in Toronto / Jeffrey G. Reitz and Janet M. Lum -- Residential segregation of visible minority groups in Toronto / Eric Fong -- Metropolitan government and the social ecology of minority residential distribution: the experience of metropolitan Toronto / William Michelson -- Immigration and the environment: polemics, analysis, and public policy / John Veugelers -- 'Getting the message': effects of Canadian law and social policy on families that immigrate to Toronto / Nancy Howell -- The impact of Canadian immigration policy on the structure of the Black Caribbean family in Toronto / Joe T. Darden -- Ethnoracial differences in mental health in Toronto: demographic and historical explanations / Jacinth Tracey and Blair Wheaton -- Does social capital pay off more within or between ethnic groups? Analysing job searches in five Toronto ethnic groups / Emi

Ooka and Barry Wellman -- Different crossings: migrants from three Chinese communities / Janet W. Salaff.

Sommario/riassunto

The majority of recent immigrants to Canada have chosen to settle in large cities and immigrants have become an integral part of the country's urban experience. How the presence of immigrants shapes the urban structures, and social processes of large cities, and how these structures and processes affect immigrants' ability to adapt to their new surroundings, are the dual foci of Eric Fong's Inside the Mosaic, a collaborative and detailed assessment of immigration in Canada from some of the field's top minds. Focusing on Toronto, the contributors explore residential patterns, physical environment, family structures, social networks, and health. Their findings clearly demonstrate that the relationships of immigration with urban structures and group processes are multi-faceted, and that the integration process of today's immigrant groups is complex. Toronto has benefited greatly from successive waves of immigration, but this has never negated the difficulty faced by the city in making adjustments to accommodate newcomers, nor the difficulties faced by immigrants in creating new lives. Inside the Mosaic is an essential tool for understanding the struggle faced by both the city and its new residents, which will bring clarity to a subject that has historically been fraught with divergent views. Contributors: Joe Darden, Eric Fong, Nancy Howell, Janet Lum, William Michelson, Emi Ooka, Jeffrey G. Reitz, Janet W. Salaff, Jacinth Tracey-Wortley, Jack Veugelers, Barry Wellman, Blair Wheaton.
