

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910808543903321
Titolo	Research and research methods for youth practitioners // edited by Simon Bradford and Fin Cullen
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Abingdon, Oxon : , : Routledge, , 2012
ISBN	1-136-62772-3 1-283-45954-X 9786613459541 1-136-62773-1 0-203-80257-8
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (241 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	BradfordSimon CullenFin
Disciplina	362.7
Soggetti	Social sciences - Research Social work with youth Youth workers
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Research and Research Methods for Youth Practitioners; Copyright; Contents; Contriibutors; Acknowledgements; Introduction; 1. Working as a practitioner-researcher; 2. Getting started: developing and designing research for practice; 3. Research ethics: participation, social difference and informed consent; 4. Doing ethnography and using visual methods; 5. Asking questions: interviews and evaluations; 6. Using quantitative methods: designing surveys and evaluations; 7. Documentary research and secondary data; 8. Virtual and online research with young people 9. Presenting research to different audiences10. Research and work with young people: politics, participation and policy; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Rigorous research is crucial to effective work with young people and increasingly youth practitioners need to be able to develop, review and evidence their work using a variety of research and assessment tools. This text equips students and practitioners with a thorough understanding of research design, practice and dissemination, as well as approaches to evidence-based practice. A clear practice framework informs the book, outlining the significance of research to youth work, especially in relation to designing and developing services for young people. Research and Research Meth
