Record Nr.	UNINA9910810169803321
Autore	Standlea David M. <1956->
Titolo	Oil, globalization, and the war for the Arctic refuge / / David M. Standlea
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Albany, : State University of New York Press, c2006
ISBN	0-7914-8239-1 1-4237-5578-2
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (229 p.)
Disciplina	338.2/7282/0973
Soggetti	Petroleum industry and trade - Political aspects - United States
	Petroleum - Prospecting - Environmental aspects - Alaska - Arctic National Wildlife Refuge
	Oil well drilling - Environmental aspects - Alaska - Arctic National Wildlife Refuge
	Petroleum industry and trade - Military aspects - United States
	Corporate state - United States
	Energy policy - United States United States Politics and government 2001-2009
	United States Foreign relations 2001-2009
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 159-193) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Intro Oil, Globalization, and the War for the Arctic Refuge Contents Preface Acknowledgments Part 1. Oil and the Corporate State 1. Globalism, Oil, and the Power Elites 2. Background to Battle: The Thirty Years' War 3. The Oil Companies: A Legacy of Global Power 4. The Corporate State 5. The Culture of Corporation Spin Part 2. Sustainability and Justice 6. The Environmentalists: Visions under Siege 7. The Gwich'in: A Fight to the End 8. The Religious Community: Philosophers of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge 9. Prophets vs. Profits: Future Scenarios and inversely, the supply is in permanent decline. The "end of oil" threatens the very future of Western civilization. Oil, Globalization, and the War for the Arctic Refuge examines the politics of drilling for oil in Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, and presents this controversy as a precursor of future "resource wars" where ideas and values collide and polarize. The reader is introduced to the primary participants involved: global corporations, politicians, nongovernmental organizations, indigenous peoples and organizations, and human rights/religious organizations. Author David M. Standlea argues in favor of seeing this comparatively "local" conflict as part of a larger struggle between the proponents of an alternative, positive vision for the future and an American culture presently willing to sacrifice that future for immediate profit.
	Outcomes Notes Bibliography Index A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P R S T U V W Y Z.