

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910811013003321
Autore	Polmar Norman
Titolo	Opening the great depths : the bathyscaph Trieste and pioneers of undersea exploration // Norman Polmar and Lee J. Mathers
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Annapolis, Maryland : , : Naval Institute Press, , [2021] ©2021
ISBN	1-68247-592-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (400 p.)
Disciplina	359.9383
Soggetti	Bathyscaphe - United States - History - 20th century Underwater exploration - United States - History - 20th century Explorers - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Foreword / by Dr. Don Walsh -- Columbus of the stratosphere -- A balloon into the depths -- Admirals of the abyss -- White knight -- The new world -- The ocean's deepest hole -- The deepest dive -- The Navy Electronics Laboratory years -- SubSunk -- The Thresher search, 1963 -- The Trieste II -- Between disasters -- A "Trieste III" -- Mission lost -- Scorpion preparations -- At the Scorpion site -- Scorpion site investigation -- Neglect and decline -- The deepest recovery -- A new support ship -- An epiphany -- Maturity -- Senescence and retirement.
Sommario/riassunto	Opening the Great Depths is the story of the Trieste, its officers and sailors, and the civilians, often told in their own words, documenting for the first time the earliest years of humanity's probing into Earth's final frontier.