

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910811485403321
Autore	Razzaque Jona
Titolo	Environmental governance in Europe and Asia : a comparative study of institutional and legislative frameworks // Jona Razzaque
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Abingdon, Oxon : , : Routledge, , 2012
ISBN	1-136-15577-5 1-283-91975-3 0-203-07860-8 1-136-15578-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (ix, 142 pages)
Collana	Routledge research in environmental law
Disciplina	344.404/6
Soggetti	Environmental law - Europe Environmental law - Asia Environmental law, International Environmental policy - Europe Environmental policy - Asia Environmental management - Europe Environmental management - Asia
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Environmental Governance in Europe and Asia; Title Page; Copyright Page; Table of Contents; List of abbreviations; Introduction; 1 Understanding environmental governance: the international and national dynamics; 2 Environmental governance in Europe and Asia: models and approaches; 3 Participatory environmental governance: assessing the role of communities in Europe and Asia; 4 Bioenergy: is it business as usual?; 5 Managing groundwater in Europe and Asia; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book looks at environmental governance in both Asia and Europe and offers a comparative analysis of the two regions in order to provide a better understanding of the concept of 'environmental governance' and its status in Europe and Asia. The book assesses the legislative, institutional and participatory mechanisms which affect the overall development of environmental governance, and analyses current issues, concerns and strategies in respect of environmental governance at the local, national, and international levels. The rapid changes in economic, social and political life have had a
