Record Nr. UNINA9910811608203321

Autore Orsini Alessandro <1975->

Titolo Sacrifice: my life in a fascist militia / / Alessandro Orsini; translated from the Italian by Sarah Jane Nodes

Ithaca:,: Cornell University Press,, 2017 Pubbl/distr/stampa

ISBN 1-5017-0963-1

Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (pages cm)

Disciplina 320.53/30945

Soggetti Fascists - Italy - Social conditions - 21st century

Militia movements - Italy - History - 21st century

Fascism - Italy - 1945-

Ethnology - Italy

Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese

Formato Materiale a stampa

Monografia Livello bibliografico

Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references.

Nota di contenuto The organization of education -- In praise of suicide -- The construction of the parallel world -- The war against the far-left extremists -- Living with contempt -- From a fascist perspective --

The great fight -- The soldiers who don't fight -- My expulsion.

Alessandro Orsini is one of Italy's premier analysts of political Sommario/riassunto extremism. His investigation of the beliefs and mind-sets of Europe's political fringe has largely focused on anarchist and far-left groups, but in Sacrifice he turns his inquiry to the rapidly expanding neofascist movement. He joined local groups of a neofascist organization he names Sacrifice in two neighboring cities with very different political cultures. In this gripping, "insider" book, which features dialogues with various militia members, Orsini shows how fascists live day to day, how they understand their world, and how they build a parallel universe in which the correctness and probity of their attitudes are clear. Orsini describes the long, troubled process by which these two groups slowly accepted him as an investigatoractivist and later expelled him for his ideologically uncommitted stance and refusal to subject his observations to censorship. His activities as a fascist were often mundane: leafleting, distributing food parcels to the indigent, and attending public rallies. In Sacrifice, Orsini describes from within the masculine ethos of the militias, the groups' relations with local police and politicians, and the central role of violence and anticommunist actions in building a sense of fascist community.