

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910811923703321
Autore	Becker Elisa Marielle
Titolo	Medicine, law, and the state in imperial Russia // Elisa M. Becker
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Budapest ; ; New York, : Central European University Press, 2011
ISBN	963-9776-87-4 1-4416-9844-2
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (412 p.)
Disciplina	614.10947
Soggetti	Medical jurisprudence - Russia - History Forensic psychiatry - Russia - History Expertise - Political aspects - Russia - History Physicians - Russia - History Health reformers - Russia - History Law reform - Russia - History Medical policy - Russia - History Russia Social policy Russia Politics and government 1689-1801 Russia Politics and government 1801-1917
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [279]-380) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Procedural immunity : medical knowledge in the age of legal certainty -- On the cusp of reform : making the expert scientific -- Legal mechanics : carving out a new identity -- Criminal procedure in social context -- Reform and the role of medical expertise.
Sommario/riassunto	Examines the theoretical and practical outlook of forensic physicians in Imperial Russia, from the 18th to the early 20th centuries, arguing that the interaction between state and these professionals shaped processes of reform in contemporary Russia. It demonstrates the ways in which the professional evolution of forensic psychiatry in Russia took a different turn from Western models, and how the process of professionalization in late imperial Russia became associated with liberal legal reform and led to the transformation of the autocratic state system.

