| UNINA9910811983903321  |
|--|
| Marouf Hasian  |
| Restorative Justice, Humanitarian Rhetorics, and Public Memories of Colonial Camp Cultures / / by Hasian Marouf  |
| London : , : Palgrave Macmillan UK : , : Imprint : Palgrave Macmillan, ,2014   |
| 1-349-49374-01-137-43711-1   |
| 1 online resource (267 p.)   |
| Rhetoric, Politics and Society   |
| 365.5  |
| World politics   |
| Comparative politics   |
| Imperialism  |
| Economic development   |
| Politics and war   |
| Political History  |
| Comparative Politics   |
| Imperialism and Colonialism  |
| Development StudiesMilitary and Defence Studies  |
| Human Rights   |
|  |
| IngleseMateriale a stampa  |
|  |
| Monografia   |
| Description based upon print version of record.  |
| Includes bibliographical references and index.   |
| Cover; Title; Copyright; Contents; List of Illustrations;Acknowledgments; 1 The Biopolitical Usage of Colonial Camp Systemsbetween 1896 and 1908 and the Quest for Restorative Justice; Talk of"Atrocities," European Regulation and Control of Imperial Violence, andthe Rhetorical Framings of Colonial Human Rights Violations; AcademicWorries about Comparative or Synchronic Genealogical Studies ofColonial Camps; A Brief Genealogy of Earlier Biopolitical andThanatopolitical Studies of Colonial Camp Cultures; The Trajectory forthe Rest of the Book2 General Valeriano Weyler, the Spanish "Reconcentracion Policy," and |
|  |

|                    | American Calls for Military Intervention into CubaThe Two Cubas,Guerrilla Tactics, and Early Talk of Spanish Camp policies, 1868-1895;The Spanish Reconcentracion Policy and General Weyler's Edicts;Contested Rhetorical Framings of Spanish Colonization in Cuba and theReconcentracion Camps; International Pressures and the Closing of theReconcentracion Camps; American Critiques of Weyler'sReconcentracion Camps of the Anglo-Boer WarColonial Argumentation during the Early British "Concentration" CampYears, March 1900 to June 1901Emily Hobhouse and the Creation ofthe Boer Concentration Camp Controversy, June 1901-June 1902;British Prowar Sentiment and the Containment of the ConcentrationCamp Controversies; Conclusion; 4 The German Konzentrationslagerand the Debates about the Annihilation of the Herero, 1905-1908;Comparative Genealogical Studies, the Characterization ofHamakari/Waterberg, and the Treatment of the Herero and Namabefore the Formation of the KonzentrationslagerHumanistic and Anti-humanistic Strands of German ImperialistArgumentation, and Their Deployment in Colonial ContextsContrastingIndigenous Responses to German Settlement and the Discourse ofRebellion; The Pursuit of German Colonial Victories atHamakari/Waterberg (1904) and the Beginning of the Annihilation ofthe Herero; The Rhetorical Invention of German Konzentrationslager inGerman South-West Africa and the Continued Annihilation of theHerero; The Coercive Labor of the Work Camps and the PhysicalDestruction of the Herero and "Hottentot" (Nama)The Shark Island "Death" Camp and the Formation of GenocidalGenealogiesThe Measurement and Appropriation of Herero and NamaBodies, the Rise of German Racial Sciences, and the Afterlife of IconicMaterials for Anti-humanist Diatribes; Conclusin; 5 American"Concentration" Camp Debates and Selective Remembrances of thePhilippine-American War; Forgotten American Camp Cultures, theArchives, and Contested Remembrances of the Philippine-AmericanWar; The Battle for Manila, the "Liberation |
|--------------------|--|
| Sommario/riassunto | and the Discovery of the "Water Cure" AtrocitiesThe concentrations camps that existed in the colonised world at the  |
|                    | turn of the 20th Century are a vivid reminder of the atrocitiescommitted by imperial powers on indigenous populations. This studyexplores British, American and Spanish camp cultures, analysingdebates over their legitimacy and current discussions on retributivejustice.   |
|                    |  |