

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910812448103321
Autore	Roper Moses
Titolo	A narrative of the adventures and escape of Moses Roper from American slavery [[electronic resource] /] / by Moses Roper
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chapel Hill, : University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Library, 2011
ISBN	979-88-908433-3-3 1-4696-0291-1 0-8078-6966-X
Edizione	[DocSouth ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (52 p.)
Disciplina	306.362092
Soggetti	Slavery - South Carolina
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	""About This Edition""; ""Summary""; ""PREFACE.""; ""INTRODUCTION.""; ""ESCAPE, &C.""
Sommario/riassunto	This book can be read as an extended autobiographical meditation on the meaning of race in antebellum America. First published in England, the text documents the life of Moses Roper, beginning with his birth in North Carolina and chronicling his travels through South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. Roper was able to obtain employment on a schooner named The Fox, and in 1834 he made his way to freedom aboard the vessel. Once in Boston, he was quickly recruited as a signatory to the constitution of the American Anti-Slavery Society (AASS), but he sailed to England the next year.