Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Implementation science : methods and approaches -- Engaging large and diverse populations por analysis -- Generating evidence during implementation -- Genomics and implementation at the level of population health -- Achieving the vision.
Sommario/riassunto	"Implementation research is designed to 'generate insights and knowledge about implementation processes, barriers, facilitators, and strategies', explained Brian Mittman, a research scientist at Kaiser Permanente Research. Workshop speakers examined issues that pertain to genomic medicine, gathering evidence during implementation, and using genomic medicine to improve population health."--Page 3.
