

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910812681503321
Titolo	Cancer care for adolescents and young adults / / editors, Daniel Kelly, Faith Gibson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oxford ; ; Malden, MA, : Blackwell Pub., 2008 Oxford ; ; Malden, Mass. : , : Blackwell Pub., , 2008
ISBN	1-282-29181-5 9786612291814 0-470-69774-1 0-470-69801-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xiv, 254 pages) : illustrations
Collana	Gale eBooks
Disciplina	616.99/400835
Soggetti	Cancer in adolescence Cancer in adolescence - Patients - Care
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	CANCER CARE FOR ADOLESCENTS AND YOUNG ADULTS; Contents; Introduction; Contributors; Foreword; Introduction; A Young Person's Experience 1: Life Before Treatment; 1 Cancer in Adolescence: Incidence and Policy Issues; Introduction; Incidence of cancer in young people; Types of cancer affecting TYAs; Adolescent cancer incidence in England; Adolescent cancer incidence in Europe; Changes in incidence in Europe; Gender differences; Outcomes of treatment; Delivery of care; Influence of protocols; Long-term issues; National health policy in the UK; Development of specialist services Young people and the national cancer policyCurrent level of implementation; Summary; 2 The Physical and Emotional Impact of Cancer in Adolescents and Young Adults; Introduction; A unique time of life; A period of transition and change; A life interrupted; Confronting a diagnosis of cancer; The 'problem' of adolescence; The 'reality' of adolescence; The culture of care; The context of care; The importance of coping; Emotional support; Support needs of young people; The importance of the body in adolescent cancer; Recurrence of disease and the body in adolescent cancer; Body work in cancer care

Looking forward3 The Impact of Cancer on Parents and Families; Introduction; Making this research possible; The research approach; Renegotiating relationships within the family; Fluctuating dependence and independence; Taking control of their body; Sharing intimate moments; Financial dependence; Relationships within the family; Parenting roles; Place of death; Negotiating relationships outside the family; Consultations with professionals; Family social networks; The implications for policy; Final thoughts; 4 The Impact of Adolescent Cancer on Healthcare Professionals; Introduction

Cultural meanings of care, cancer, and adolescent cancer careTheories of stress, burnout, and coping; Emotions and care work; The 'emotional self'; Unconscious feelings in adolescent cancer work; Mastering intense feelings; Maintaining boundaries; Multidisciplinary team working; Care and support; Concluding thoughts; A Young Person's Experience 2: Life During Treatment; 5 Supportive Care for Adolescents and Young Adults During Cancer Treatment; Introduction; Supportive care: how is it defined?; Defining supportive care; The young person and cancer; Adolescence and transitions

Beyond adolescenceSupporting the tasks of adolescence: forming a clear identity; Accommodating a changing or new body image; The significance of symptom management on body image and self-concept; Negotiating a new relationship with parents; The emerging independent self; Trying to reconcile the situation; The ethics of supportive care; Developing a personal value system; Consent; Ethical theories; Achieving financial and social independence; Developing relationships; Peer relationships; Romantic relationships; Fertility; Developing cognitive skills and the ability to think abstractly
Controlling their future

---

Sommario/riassunto

Cancer in Adolescents and Young Adults is a practical guide to cancer care in adolescents and young adults. The first section examines cancer in adolescence and the impact of diagnosis on adolescence. The second section focuses on the experience of cancer and ongoing care needs i. e. 'life during cancer'. The final section examines the consequences of cancer by concentrating on recovery, rehabilitation and/or end of life issues i.e. 'life after cancer.'

---