

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910812733103321
Autore	Stokes Gale <1933->
Titolo	The walls came tumbling down : the collapse of communism in Eastern Europe // Gale Stokes
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York : , : Oxford University Press, , 1993
ISBN	0-19-987919-2 1-283-13039-4 9786613130396 0-19-987433-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (viii, 319 pages)
Disciplina	940/.09717
Soggetti	Europe, Eastern History 1945-
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	The new opposition : antipolitics and solidarity The gang of four and their nemesis The momentum of change in Hungary Solidarity : the return of the repressed in Poland The glorious revolutions of 19891990 and 1991 : the first two years of a long time The devil's finger : the disintegration of Yugoslavia Epilogue and prologue : the new pluralism
Sommario/riassunto	The rapid and unexpected collapse of the Communist systems of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe continues to mystify scholars and citizens alike. The recent flood of books on this topic (many of them excellent) poses special problems for librarians, who will need to choose carefully not only as to quality but also coverage. Stokes's work, which covers Poland, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Romania, can be recommended as a coherent, well-written history that defines its time frame well, provides sound coverage, makes prudent judgments, and wears its analysis lightly. The book