

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910812767003321
Autore	Trakman Leon E.
Titolo	Rights and responsibilities // Leon Trakman and Sean Gatién
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto, [Ontario] ; ; Buffalo, [New York] ; ; London, [England] : , : University of Toronto Press, , 1999 ©1999
ISBN	1-281-99584-3 9786611995843 1-4426-7937-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (301 p.)
Disciplina	323/.01
Soggetti	Civil rights - Philosophy Responsibility Liberalism Livres numériques. e-books. Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	The person, politics, and rights -- The reconceptualization of rights -- Rights, responsibilities, and free speech -- The responsibilities of reproductive freedom -- Rights, responsibilities and Native cultures -- International environmental rights and responsibilities.
Sommario/riassunto	The longstanding philosophical, political, and legal debate over the nature of rights has recently sprung into a raging liberal/communitarian controversy. With this book, Leon Trakman and Sean Gatién leap into the fray, presenting a powerful critique and reconceptualization of liberal rights theory. The authors begin by setting out the current poles in the debate over rights as liberalism conceives them. The key flaw in liberal rights, they argue, is in protecting individual autonomy at the expense of community interests, such as those that relate to aboriginal peoples and the environment. Arguing that rights are inseparable from responsibilities, they develop a balanced, dialogic approach to rights theory, then follow through by deploying their conception of rights in four topical fields: freedom of expression, reproductive autonomy, Native rights, and international environmental protection. Challenging many time-honoured liberal assumptions, the authors present a controversial yet persuasive treatise, substantiated with sound scholarship, powerful argument, and the light of reason.
