

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910810202903321
Autore	Vandestra Muhammad
Titolo	Arabic folklore the termite of prophet Sulayman (Solomon) & the Jinn Race (Demon) // Muhammad Vandestra
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Hanover, New Hampshire : , : Scribl, , [2018] ©2018
ISBN	1-370-88183-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (12 pages)
Disciplina	398.22
Soggetti	Arabs Termites Demonology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	Intro -- Title Page -- Copyright Page -- Prolog -- The Termite of Prophet Sulayman (Solomon) & -- The Jinn Race (Demon) -- Author Bio.
Sommario/riassunto	{Then when We decreed death for him [Sulayman (Solomon)], nothing informed them (Jinn) of his death except a termite, which kept (slowly) gnawing away at his stick, so when he fell down, the Jinn saw clearly that if they had known the Ghayb (unseen), they would not have stayed in the humiliating torment.} (Saba': 14) Let me tell you what happened. While we were just tiny ants that live in ou...

2. Record Nr.	UNINA9910812802203321
Autore	Baumann Max-Otto
Titolo	Routledge handbook on the UN and development // edited by Stephen Browne and Thomas G. Weiss
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Taylor & Francis, 2020 London ; ; New York, New York : , : Routledge, , [2021] ©2021
ISBN	0-429-58869-0 0-429-19768-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (333 pages) : illustrations
Disciplina	338.91
Soggetti	Economic development - International cooperation Sustainable development - International cooperation International organization
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: Development, the largest of four UN functions / Stephen Browne And Thomas G. Weiss -- The UN development system : origins, structure, status / Stephen Browne and Thomas G. Weiss -- The UN and development : objectives and governance / Jose Antonio Ocampo -- Emerging powers, a declining west, and multilateralism / Kishore Mahbubani -- Environment and development in the UN / Maria Ivanova -- Gender equality and the United Nations / Saraswathi Menon -- Human rights and sustainable development : together at last? / Natalie Samarasinghe -- Sustaining peace and the 2030 development agenda / Sigrid Gruener and Henrik Hambergren -- Sustaining peace : changing architecture and priorities for UN peacebuilding / Gert Rosenthal -- What does "leave no one behind" mean for humanitarians? / Peter J. Hoffman -- Migration and development in the UN global compacts / Nicholas R. Micinski -- Funding the UN : support or constraint? / Max-Otto Baumann and Silke Weinlich -- Private finance and partnerships at the UN / Barbara Adams -- The "third UN" : civil society and the world organization / Roberto Bissio -- The UN and World Bank : collaboration toward stronger global governance? / Richard Jolly -- The WTO, the UN, and the future of global development / Rorden Wilkinson -- UN accountability : from frameworks to evidence and results / Richard Golding -- Towards better knowledge management in the UN / Steve Glovinski -- Change in the UN development system : theory and practice / John Hendra and Ingrid Fitzgerald -- Looking to the UN's future / Carsten Staur -- Reforming the UN and governing the globe / Georgios Kostakos -- Reflections : prospects for the UN development system / Stephen Browne and Thomas G. Weiss.

---

Sommario/riassunto

This chapter shows that while the UN development system (UNDS) has benefited from a strong increase in resources over recent years, it suffers from the reliance on a small number of contributing countries and a disproportionate earmarking of funds. While softer forms of such tied funding can be credited with fostering coherence, efficiency, and innovation in the UN's country-level work, tightly earmarked project funding has substantial, and not yet fully recognized negative implications for the development effectiveness and multilateral functions of the UNDS. Efforts to contain the rise of earmarked funding (which is driven both by political interests of member states and the desire to financially grow UN organizations) and broaden the base of contributors, have so far been ineffective. The UN Funding Compact presents the first systemic answer that brings together member states and UN development organizations. It remains to be seen whether it can slow down harmful funding practices and equip the UNDS with the resources required so that it can act as a catalyst for implementing the 2030 Agenda.

---