

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910813341403321
Autore	Pollack Mark A. <1966->
Titolo	When cooperation fails : the international law and politics of genetically modified foods / / Mark A. Pollack, Gregory C. Shaffer
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oxford ; ; New York, : Oxford University Press, 2009
ISBN	0-19-956705-0 0-19-156890-2 9786612268540 1-282-26854-6
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (456 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	ShafferGregory C. <1958->
Disciplina	344.04/232 344.0957
Soggetti	Genetically modified foods - Law and legislation Genetically modified foods - Law and legislation - European Union countries Genetically modified foods - Law and legislation - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 379-425) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction and overview : biotechnology, risk regulation, and the failure of cooperation -- The domestic sources of the conflict : why the US and EU biotech regulatory regimes differ -- The promise and failure of transatlantic regulatory cooperation through networks -- Deliberation or bargaining? : distributive conflict and the fragmented international regime complex -- WTO dispute settlement meets GMOS : who decides? -- US and EU policies since 2000 : change, continuity and (lack of) convergence -- Conclusions : the lessons of transatlantic conflict, developing countries and the future of agricultural biotechnology.
Sommario/riassunto	The transatlantic dispute over genetically modified organisms (GMOs) has brought into conflict the United States and the European Union, two long-time allies and economically interdependent democracies with a long record of successful cooperation. Yet the dispute - pitting a largely acceptant US against an EU deeply suspicious of GMOs - has developed into one of the most bitter and intractable transatlantic and global conflicts, resisting efforts at negotiated resolution and resulting in a bitterly contested legal battle before the World Trade Organization. Professors Pollack and Shaffer invest
