

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910813472703321
Autore	Munck Ronaldo
Titolo	Rethinking global labour : after neoliberalism / / Ronaldo Munck [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Newcastle upon Tyne : , : Agenda Publishing Limited, , 2018
ISBN	9781788211062 (e-book) 9781788211048 (hbk.) 9781788211055 (pbk.) 9781788211673
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (x, 266 pages) : digital, PDF file(s)
Disciplina	331.88
Soggetti	Working class Labor and globalization Labor movement Labor unions Capitalism
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Title from publisher's bibliographic system (viewed on 09 Aug 2023).
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (pages 241-254) and index.
Sommario/riassunto	Far from witnessing the beginning of the end of organized labour as a major political force, Rethinking Global Labour argues that, post-financial crisis, we are entering a new era for workers and their organizations in which they will begin to impact decisively on the new global order. In exploring the potential futures for the world's workers, the book provides an insightful account of how globalization has created a new global working class while increasing the insecurity and precarious nature of most employment. Moving beyond categories of North and South, Munck argues that the new global class of workers will be central both to the future of globalization and to its possible alternatives. In some ways the book poses a 'return to the future' drawing parallels with the birth of the labour and democratic movements before the consolidation of nation states. At a time of growing unease with the negative effects of economic globalization, Rethinking Global Labour offers an important assessment of global labour and its potential for organization.
