

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910813509203321
Autore	Abrams Fran <1963->
Titolo	Learning to fail : how society lets young people down // Fran Abrams
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Abingdon, Oxon ; ; New York, NY, : Routledge, 2009
ISBN	1-135-26482-1 1-135-26483-X 1-282-31578-1 9786612315787 0-203-86482-4
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (180 p.)
Disciplina	373.1826/94
Soggetti	Youth with social disabilities - Education - Great Britain School failure - Great Britain Youth - Employment - Great Britain Youth - Great Britain - Social conditions
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Copyright; Contents; Acknowledgements; Preface; The young people (some names have been changed); Introduction; Chapter 1 The importance of places; Chapter 2 Changing chances; Chapter 3 Aspirations; Chapter 4 Poverty; Chapter 5 School; Chapter 6 Changing families; Chapter 7 Street life; Chapter 8 Making choices; Chapter 9 Further trouble; Chapter 10 The world of work; Chapter 11 Race matters; Chapter 12 The difference for girls; Chapter 13 Reaching out; Conclusions; Footnote - outcomes; Bibliography
Sommario/riassunto	During a decade of relative prosperity from the mid-1990s onward, governments across the developed world failed to crack one major issue - youth unemployment. Even when economic growth was strong, one young person in 10 in the United Kingdom was neither working nor learning. As the boom ended, the number of young people dropping out after leaving school - already acknowledged to be too high - began to rise at an alarming rate. As governments face up to the prospect of a new generation on the dole, this book examines the root causes of the problem.By holding a light to the live
