

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910814365603321
Titolo	Democratic citizenship and the free movement of people // edited by Willem Maas
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Leiden [Netherlands] : , : Martinus Nijhoff Publishers, , 2013
ISBN	90-04-24328-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (228 p.)
Collana	Immigration and asylum law and policy in Europe, , 1568-2749 ; ; volume 30
Altri autori (Persone)	MaasWillem <1972->
Disciplina	342.2408/5
Soggetti	Freedom of movement - European Union countries
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Preface / Willem Maas -- Foreword / Joseph H. Carens -- Equality and the free movement of people : citizenship and internal migration / Willem Maas -- Right of way? : defining freedom of movement within democratic societies / Matthew Longo -- Free movement for workers or citizens? : reverse discrimination in European family reunification policies / Anne Staver -- Under-appreciated, under-employed and potentially unwelcome : the long-term future of Polish migrants in Ireland and Britain / Michael Johns -- Politics of free movement in the European Union : recognition and transfer of professional qualifications / Micheline van Riemsdijk -- Roma and the limits of free movement in the European Union / Jacqueline S. Gehring -- Ethnic return migration, selective incentives, and the right to freedom of movement in post-cold war Greece / Harris Mylonas -- Liberal democracies' divergent interpretations of the right of return : implications for free movement / Megan Bradley.
Sommario/riassunto	Democratic states guarantee free movement within their territory to all citizens, as a core right of citizenship. Similarly, the European Union guarantees EU citizens and members of their families the right to live and the right to work anywhere within EU territory. Such rights reflect the project of equality and undifferentiated individual rights for all who have the status of citizen, but they are not uncontested. Despite citizenship's promise of equality, barriers, incentives, and disincentives to free movement make some citizens more equal than others. This book challenges the normal way of thinking about freedom of movement by identifying the tensions between the formal ideals that governments, laws, and constitutions expound and actual practices, which fall short. Individual states and the European Union have either created or permitted the creation of direct and indirect barriers to mobility that undermine the promise of freedom of movement. The volume identifies these barriers, explains why they have arisen, discusses why they are difficult to remove, and explores their consequences.' -- Joseph Carens, University of Toronto.
