

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910814426803321
Titolo	Political institutions and economic growth in Latin America : essays in policy, history, and political economy // edited by Stephen Haber
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Stanford, California : , : Hoover Institution Press, Stanford University, , [2000] ©2000
ISBN	0-8179-9668-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (306 p.)
Collana	Hoover Institution Press publication ; ; number 458
Altri autori (Persone)	HaberStephen H. <1957->
Disciplina	338.98
Soggetti	Latin America Economic conditions Latin America Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover; Title Page; Half Title; Copyright; Contents; Acknowledgments; Contributors; 1 Introduction: Institutional Change, Economic Growth,and Economic History - Stephen Haber; 2 Institutional Determinants of Railroad Subsidy and Regulation in Imperial Brazil - William R. Summerhill; 3 The Political Economy of Financial Market Regulation and Industrial Productivity Growth in Brazil, 1866-1934 - Stephen Haber; 4 Latin America and Foreign Capital in the Twentieth Century: Economics, Politics, and Institutional Change - Alan M. Taylor 5 Schooling, Suffrage, and the Persistence of Inequality in the Americas, 1800-1945 - Elisa Mariscal and Kenneth L. Sokoloff 6 Privately and Publicly Induced Institutional Change:Observations from Cuban Cane Contracting, 1880-1936 - Alan Dye; 7 Concluding Remarks: The Emerging New Economic History of Latin America - Douglass C. North and Barry R. Weingast; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Political Institutions and Economic Growth in Latin America offers a new contribution to the literature on institutions and growth through the analysis of historical cases of institutional change and economic growth in Latin America in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.