

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910814538803321
Titolo	Tourism in a transforming world economy and the impacts of the brave new world : how might developing nations achieve long-term sustainable development? // theme editors, Prof. Anthony Clayton, Dr. Ibrahim Ajagunna and Dr. Fritz Pinnock
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[Bradford, England] : , : Emerald, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	1-78441-031-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (109 p.)
Collana	Worldwide Hospitality and Tourism Themes, , 1755-4217 ; ; Volume 6, Number 2
Disciplina	174.4
Soggetti	Sustainable development - Moral and ethical aspects Environmental ethics
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Editorial advisory board; Editorial; Tourism in a transforming world economy; New world, new tourism, new destinations; Shifting tourism flows in a changing climate: policy implications for the Caribbean; The future of tourism in an emerging economy: the reality of the cruise industry in Caribbean ; The globalization of the cruise industry: a tale of ships; Tourism and technology in the global economy: challenges for small island states; Factors used by Ghanaian students in determining career options in the tourism and hospitality industry Managing interactions in the tourism industry - a strategic tool for success Tourism in a transforming world economy - the impacts of the brave new world
Sommario/riassunto	This e-book investigates the implications of evolving patterns of travel and tourism for developing nations. It addresses the changes that are occurring (social, economic, technological and environmental) which raise important questions as to how small, relatively vulnerable nations can respond, especially when they have little or no control over most of the relevant variables. Specifically, what are implications for emerging economies and for tourism-dependent developing economies

