

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910815464203321
Autore	Haviland Sara Rzeszutek
Titolo	James and Esther Cooper Jackson : love and courage in the Black freedom movement // Sara Rzeszutek Haviland
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lexington, Kentucky : , : University Press of Kentucky, , [2015] ©2015
ISBN	0-8131-6673-X 0-8131-6626-8 0-8131-6627-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (385 p.)
Collana	Civil Rights and the Struggle for Black Equality in the Twentieth Century
Disciplina	323.092 B
Soggetti	African American civil rights workers African American political activists African American communists Married people - United States African Americans - Civil rights - History - 20th century Civil rights movements - United States - History - 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: Love and activism -- Jack and Esther's paths to activism and each other -- Radical marriage on the front lines of the double victory campaign -- The demise of the Black popular front in the postwar period -- Family and the Black freedom movement in the early Cold War years -- The Communist Party USA and Black freedom in the 1950s -- Radical journalism in the civil rights years -- Freedomways, the Communist Party USA, and Black freedom in the post-civil rights years -- Conclusion: Esther and Jack in American history.
Sommario/riassunto	This collective biography of James and Esther Cooper Jackson argues that, in the face of major political transformations, activists responded to new political contexts and drew on their own personal needs, demands, and relationships to craft their contributions to the black freedom movement.

