

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910816172103321
Titolo	New trends in Russian political mentality : Putin 3.0 // edited by Elena Shestopal
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Lexington Books, , [2016] ©2016
ISBN	1-4985-1475-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (415 p.)
Disciplina	306.20947
Soggetti	Political culture - Russia (Federation) Political psychology - Russia (Federation) Russia (Federation) Politics and government 21st century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword; Acknowledgments; Introduction; Part I. POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGICAL ANALYSIS OF RUSSIANS' PUBLIC MENTALITY; Ch01. The Key Role of Perception as a Mechanism of Mass Political Mentality; Ch02. Methodology of the Study of Various Political Objects; Part II. IMAGES OF AUTHORITIES IN RUSSIANS' MENTALITY; Introduction to Part II; Ch03. Content of Authorities' Images; Ch04. Psychological Structure of Authorities' Images; Ch05. Images of Authorities in Different Social Groups; Part II. IMAGES OF POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS; Ch06. Image of the Contemporary Russian State Ch07. Image of Russia's Parliament Ch08. Images of Russia's Political Parties; Part IV. IMAGES OF RUSSIAN LEADERS; Introduction to Part IV; Ch09. Certain Psychological Features of Perception of Russian Leaders; Ch10. Presidents as Leaders; Ch11. Images of Executive Branch Leaders; Ch12. Leaders of Opposition; Ch13. Regional Leaders; Ch14. Political Leaders of Russia's Parliament; Postscript; Index; About the Contributors
Sommario/riassunto	This book examines popular perceptions of recent political and psychological changes during Vladimir Putin's third term, a unique period in the post-Soviet political history of Russia. The contributors analyze recent trends in Russian society and interpret citizens' views of political power, institutions, and leaders.
