

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910816257303321
Autore	Pan Lu
Titolo	Aestheticizing Public Space : Street Visual Politics in East Asian Cities
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bristol, : Intellect, 2015
ISBN	1-78320-454-0
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (276 p.)
Disciplina	779.995
Soggetti	Architecture Asia -- Pictorial works Photography, Artistic Middle East Regions & Countries - Asia & the Middle East History & Archaeology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Half Title; Title; Copyright; Contents; Acknowledgements; Introduction; Part I: Carnival on the Street-Visual Order and its (Pseudo-)Reversion; Chapter 1: A Twisted Carnival: State-Sponsored Graffiti in China; Chapter 2: Writing at the End of History: Reflections on Two Cases of Graffiti in Hong Kong; Part II: Aura on (and beyond) the Street-Body, Community, and Media; Chapter 3: Trans-spatial Images: Traveling Graffiti (Art) and the Possibility of Resistance in Chinese Urban Space; Chapter 4: Eloquence of Silent Speech: JR in East Asia Part III: Dissensus on the Street-Aesthetics, Politics, and Public SpaceChapter 5: The Spectacle of Democracy: Violence, Language, and Dissensus in the Case of Anti-war Graffiti in Tokyo; Chapter 6: The Nation's Shame? Seoul's Rat Graffiti Incident at the 2010 G-20 Summit; Part IV: Creativity on the Street-Visual Narratives of East Asian Creative Cities 143; Chapter 7: Art, Urban Space, and Governance: Street Mural and "Legal Wall" in Japan; Chapter 8: Marginality as Centrality: The "Seoul Urban Art Project" and AGIT in Busan Special Chapter: Voices from the Street-Interviews with Street Visual Producers in East Asia 1Interview with VERY; Interview with Garoo; Interview with Zyko (Beijing); Interview with Ken Lee @Dirty Panda;

Sommario/riassunto

A photo collage of past and present street visuals in Asia, Aestheticizing Public Space explores the domestic, regional, and global nexus of East Asian cities through their graffiti, street art and other visual forms in public space. Attempting to unfold the complex positions of these images in the urban spatial politics of their respective regions, Lu Pan explores how graffiti in East Asia reflects the relationship between aesthetics and politics. The book situates itself in a contested dynamic relationship among human bodies, visual modernity, social or moral norms, styles, and historical exper
