

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910816574403321
Autore	Bronner Stephen Eric <1949->
Titolo	Peace out of reach [[electronic resource] ] : Middle Eastern travels and the search for reconciliation // Stephen Eric Bronner
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lexington, : University Press of Kentucky, c2007
ISBN	1-283-23317-7 9786613233172 0-8131-7257-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (208 p.)
Disciplina	956.05
Soggetti	Conflict management - Middle East Middle East Politics and government 1979-
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 161-178) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cosmopolitan engagements -- Lessons from Afghanistan -- The Iraqi debacle : democracy, desperation, and the ethics of war -- Twilight in Tehran -- Syria and its president : a meeting with Bashar al-Assad -- Withdrawal pains : Gaza, Lebanon, and the future of Palestine -- The Middle East spills over : the Sudan and the crisis in Darfur -- Conspiracy then and now : history, politics, and the anti-semitic imagination -- Incendiary images : blasphemous cartoons, cosmopolitan responsibility, and critical engagement -- Of reason and faith : on the former Cardinal Josef Ratzinger -- False antinomies : on religious conviction and human rights.
Sommario/riassunto	Turmoil in the Middle East has escalated to unprecedented levels in the twenty-first century. Opposing cultural, religious, and political forces have resumed old conflicts and spawned new ones, fighting with words and images as well as bombs and bullets. The path toward peace and reconciliation seems further away and less clear than ever. Stephen Eric Bronner's Peace Out of Reach is both a deeply personal account and a careful analysis of the crises currently threatening the cradle of civilization. Bronner's insights into Middle Eastern tensions are significantly enhanced by his extensive t

