It's lonely dying in Africa -- Death by a thousand cuts -- When is our evolution coming? -- Who needs education to run a country? -- Too many opposition parties but no politicians -- Europe and migrants-- the game has changed -- A continent of little scruples -- Leadership, our African problem -- Mugabe must stop lying -- The imperialists among us -- No rising amid groping and fumbling -- Our comrades are raping us -- The sanctions myth in Zimbabwe -- The fourth estate in quandry -- Cecil the lion sleeps tonight -- Packaging the African leader -- Humanity is under threat -- I hate democracy -- History drowns Dr. Kenneth Kaunda's voice of peace -- Nyerere's elusive dream: African unity -- Impoverishing a continent -- Figures don't lie--the state of our education.

Sommario/riassunto

It has been said before that Africa is one of the richest continents in the world but the poorest and colonialism was blamed for Africa's problems before the continent was liberated. Although some leaders still blame colonialism for the poverty that is ravaging the continent today, it cannot be denied that poor governance, corruption, greed among many other ills are causing Africa's current problems. The essays in this collection The Gods Sleep Through It All discusses Africa's leadership problems and how most countries still rely on former colonisers for help despite boasting of untold natural wealth. The essays discuss the corruption of political parties and politics in Africa and question why African countries readily open their arms to countries like China but close borders to people from other African countries.
