

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910816939803321
Autore	McKinnon Malcolm
Titolo	The broken decade : prosperity, depression and recovery in New Zealand, 1928-39 // Malcolm McKinnon
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Dunedin : , : Otago University Press, , 2019
ISBN	1-988531-63-2 1-988531-65-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (513 pages)
Disciplina	993.032
Soggetti	Depressions - 1929 - New Zealand New Zealand History 1918-1945 New Zealand Economic conditions 1918-1945 New Zealand Social conditions 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	An Indian summer, 1928-30 -- Economy and adjustment, 1930-32 -- Out of mind, out of sight? the unemployed crisis, 1930-32 -- After the disturbances, 1932 -- How to raise prices, 1932-33 -- At odds, 1933 -- Expansion and protection, 1933-35 -- Back and forward to a welfare state, 1933-35 -- The 1935 election -- A Labour restoration? 1935-39 -- The Depression as history and memory, 1940-2015.
Sommario/riassunto	"The Depression of the 1930s was a defining period in New Zealand history. It had its own vocabulary -- swaggers and sugarbags, relief work and sustenance, the Queen Street riots and special constables -- that was all too familiar to those who lived through that tumultuous decade ... While the lives of those most affected by the Depression have been admirably documented in oral histories in various forms, the political and economic context, and the manoeuvrings and responses to the unprecedented conditions have not, until now, been given the extensive analysis they deserve. [This book] ... unpicks the Depression year by year. It begins by introducing the prosperous world of New Zealand in the late 1920s before focusing on the sudden onset of the Depression in 1930--31, the catastrophic months that followed and, finally, on the attempt to find a way back to that pre-Depression prosperity. Informed by exhaustive research, relevant statistics and fascinating personal accounts, and made accessible and meaningful by insightful analysis"--Publisher's description.
