

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910817116803321
Titolo	One-party dominance in African democracies // edited by Renske Doorenspleet, Lia Nijzink
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Boulder, Colorado ; ; London, [England] : , : Lynne Rienner Publishers, , 2013 ©2013
ISBN	1-62637-265-9 1-78539-154-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (267 pages) : illustrations, tables
Disciplina	324.26
Soggetti	Political parties - Africa, Sub-Saharan Democracy - Africa, Sub-Saharan Dominant-party systems Africa, Sub-Saharan Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	1. One-party dominance in African democracies: a framework for analysis / Renske Doorenspleet and Lia Nijzink -- 2. An overview of African party systems / Gero Erdmann and Matthias Basedau -- Part 1. Enduring one-party dominance -- 3. Namibia: cultivating the liberation gospel / Henning Melber -- 4. South Africa: racialized discourse in the context of deteriorating performance / Thiven Reddy -- 5. Tanzania: nurturing legacies of the past / Mohammed Bakari and Richard Whitehead -- Part 2. One-party dominance in decline -- 6. Zambia: manufactured one-party dominance and its collapse / Neo Simutanyi -- 7. Mali: from dominant party to platform of unity / Martin van Vliet -- 8. Senegal: the end of one-party dominance / Christof Hartmann -- Part 3. Conclusion -- 9. Why one-party dominance endures in some democracies but not others / Lia Nijzink and Renske Doorenspleet.
Sommario/riassunto	Is the dominance of one political party a problem in an emerging democracy, or simply an expression of the will of the people? Why has one-party dominance endured in some African democracies and not in others? What are the mechanisms behind the varying party-system trajectories? Considering these questions, the authors of this collaborative work use a rigorous comparative research design and rich case material to greatly enhance our understanding of one of the key issues confronting emerging democracies in sub-Saharan Africa.
