

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910817887203321
Autore	Radding Murrieta Cynthia
Titolo	Bountiful Deserts : Sustaining Indigenous Worlds in Northern New Spain // Cynthia Radding
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Tucson, Arizona : , : The University of Arizona Press, , [2022] ©2022
ISBN	0-8165-4691-6
Edizione	[First edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource
Collana	Latin American Landscapes Series
Disciplina	972.17
Soggetti	Mayo Indians - Mexico, North - History Mayo Indians - Land tenure - Mexico, North Mayo Indians - Science - Mexico, North Mayo Indians - Wars - Mexico, North
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Preface: Yoremia Yorecame Bathue Mayoamaqui -- Introduction: corridors of knowledge -- ; Part I. Cultural resilience through the production of landscapes -- ; 1. Harvesting the floodplains and nurturing the monte -- ; 2. The storied geographies of northwestern Mexico -- ; 3. Corridors of migration and the forging of colonial spaces -- ; Part II. Internal frontiers and the production of knowledge in northwestern New Spain -- ; 4. Entangled communities in Ostimuri and Sinaloa -- ; 5. Territories of conflict, boundaries, and the measurement of the monte -- ; 6. Rebellion: the monte in flames -- Conclusions: defending the boundaries of Indigenous worlds.
Sommario/riassunto	"Set in the arid lands of northwestern Mexico, this book foregrounds the knowledge of Indigenous peoples who made the land bountiful in their material resources and sacred spaces. It uses the tools of history, anthropology, geography, and ecology to recreate the means of defending Indigenous worlds through colonial encounters, the formation of mixed societies, and direct conflicts over forests, grasslands, streams, and coastal estuaries that sustained wildlife, horticulture, foraging, hunting, fishing, and - after European contact - livestock and extractive industries. It returns in each chapter to the spiritual power of nature and the enduring cultural significance of the worlds that Indigenous communities created and defended"--

---