1. Record Nr. UNINA9910818087903321 Autore Itakura Hiroko Titolo Conversational dominance and gender: a study of Japanese speakers in first and second language contexts / / Hiroko Itakura Amsterdam; ; Philadelphia, : J. Benjamins Pub. Co., c2001 Pubbl/distr/stampa ISBN 1-282-16244-6 9786612162442 90-272-9810-6 Edizione [1st ed.] Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (xvii, 227 pages) Pragmatics & beyond;; new ser., v. 89 Collana Disciplina 495.6/01/41 Soggetti Japanese language - Discourse analysis Japanese language - Sex differences Dominance (Psychology) Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references (p. [205]-220) and indexes. Nota di contenuto Conversational Dominance and Gender -- Editorial page -- Title page -- LCC data -- Contents -- Acknowledgements -- List of tables --Transcription notation -- List of abbreviations -- Chapter 1 Introduction -- Chapter 2 Gender, dominance and pragmatic transfer --Chapter 3 Analysing conversational dominance -- Chapter 4 Empirical study -- Chapter 5 Dimensions of conversational dominance --Chapter 6 Conversational dominance, styles, strategies and pragmatic transfer -- Appendix 1 Topic sheet -- Appendix 2 Number of turns used for quantitative analysis -- References -- Name index -- Subject index. Sommario/riassunto This book investigates the notion of conversational dominance in depth, and seeks to establish a systematic method of analysing it. It also offers a new insight into the role of gender and the pragmatic transfer of conversational norms in the first and second language conversations among native speakers of Japanese. Drawing upon a critical synthesis of insights from several different fields, including Conversation Analysis, the Birmingham school of discourse analysis, and dialogical analysis, the author proposes an innovative analytical framework for operationalising the concept of dominance in conversation. She then applies this framework to the empirical analysis of Japanese speakers' L1 and L2 conversations, finding direct evidence for the important role of gender and pragmatic transfer in conversational dominance. By integrating quantitative and qualitative approaches to discourse analysis, the author offers a new perspective into the pragmatic transfer of conversational norms. She does so by demonstrating how the notion of self-oriented and other-oriented conversational styles and strategies can affect the level of transfer of interactional behaviour differently for male and female speakers.