

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910818841503321
Autore	Dorland Michael
Titolo	Law, rhetoric and irony in the formation of Canadian civil culture // Michael Dorland, Maurice Charland
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto ; ; Buffalo, [New York] ; ; London : , : University of Toronto Press, , 2002 ©2002
ISBN	9786612028328 1-282-02832-4 1-4426-7660-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (374 pages) : illustrations
Disciplina	971
Soggetti	Civil society - Canada Law - Canada - History History Electronic books. Canada Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Envoi -- Situating Canada's Civil Culture -- 'Who Killed Canadian History?' The Uses and Abuses of Canadian Historiography -- The Legitimacy of Conquest: Issues in the Transition of Legal Regimes, 1760s-1840s -- Constituting Constitutions under the British Regime, 1763-1867 -- The Limits of Law: The North-West, Riel, and the Expansion of Anglo-Canadian Institutions, 1869-1885 -- 'Impious Civility': Woman's Suffrage and the Refiguration of Civil Culture, 1885-1929 -- The Dialectic of Language, Law, and Translation: Manitoba and Quebec Revisited, 1969-1999 -- Civility, Its Discontents, and the Performance of Social Appearance -- The Figures of Authority in Canadian Civil Culture.
Sommario/riassunto	A challenging examination of the history of Canadian governance and the central role played by legal and other discourses in the formation of civil culture.

