

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910819239303321
Autore	Le Moyne d'Iberville Pierre <1661-1706.>
Titolo	Iberville's Gulf journals // translated and edited by Richebourg Gaillard McWilliams; with an introd. by Tennant S. McWilliams
Pubbl/distr/stampa	University, AL, : University of Alabama Press, c1981
ISBN	0-8173-8529-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (207 pages)
Altri autori (Persone)	McWilliamsRichebourg Gaillard
Disciplina	976
Soggetti	French - Gulf States - History French - Mississippi River Valley - History Gulf Coast (U.S.) Description and travel Gulf States History To 1803 Sources Mississippi River Valley Description and travel Mississippi River Valley History To 1803 Sources
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Translation of Le Moyne d'Iberville's journals of 3 voyages to the Mississippi from Dec. 31, 1698 to Apr. 27, 1702.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Acknowledgments; Introduction: Pierre LeMoyne d'Iberville and the Competition for Empire / Tennant S. McWilliams; Iberville's Gulf Journals; First Voyage to the Mississippi: The Journal of the Badine; Second Voyage to the Mississippi: The Journal of the Renommee; Third Voyage to the Mississippi: The Journal of the Renommee; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Europe's expansion into the New World during the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries was a story of power alignment and cultural transmission as well as dramatic individual effort. Spain had her conquistadores, France her coureurs de bois, and England her sea dogs. Isolated from the authority of home governments, tempted by the abundance of gold, fur, and fish in the New World, these adventurers so vital to national policies of expansion developed their own personal creeds of conquest and colonization.