

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910819412103321
Autore	MacDonald Janet <1950->
Titolo	Learning with online and mobile technologies [[electronic resource]] : a student survival guide // Janet MacDonald and Linda Creanor
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Burlington, : Gower, c2010
ISBN	1-351-92249-1 1-282-54526-4 9786612545269 0-566-08931-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (142 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	CreanorLinda
Disciplina	378.1/734
Soggetti	Computer-assisted instruction Mobile communication systems College student orientation
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; List of Figures; Acknowledgements; Reviews for Learning with Online and Mobile Technologies; 1 Introduction; 2 Student Voices; 3 Practicalities; 4 Listening, Reading and Sense-making; 5 Listening, Reading and Sense-making: A Survival Guide; 6 Communicating and Community; 7 Communicating and Community: A Survival Guide; 8 Searching and Researching; 9 Searching and Researching: A Survival Guide; 10 Writing and Presenting; 11 Writing and Presenting: A Survival Guide; Appendix A: Web Links to Further Resources; Appendix B: File Types and Common Web Link Codes Appendix C: GlossaryAppendix D: References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Technology has become a necessary and everyday part of studying. This book starts with effective practice in learning, and shows how technology can support that good practice. The authors show you the many ways in which online and mobile technologies can be used for study and give you guidance on how best to use them for learning in higher education, whether that is at college or university, or within your workplace. An effective learning strategy with technologies will help you develop independence and self direction, so that when faced with a bewildering choice of web-based resources you are
