

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910819895703321
Autore	Kronenfeld Jennie J
Titolo	Schools and the health of children : protecting our future // Jennie Jacobs Kronenfeld
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Thousand Oaks, Calif., : SAGE, c2000
ISBN	1-322-41456-4 1-4833-2856-2 1-4522-5191-6
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xii, 116 p.)
Disciplina	371.710973
Soggetti	School health services - United States School children - Health and hygiene - United States Health education - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references ([103]-112) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; List of Tables; Preface; Acknowledgments; Chapter 1 - Introduction; Chapter 2 - History of Child Health and School Health Programs: Background and Current Roles of School Health Programs; Chapter 3 - Health Status of Children: Past and Present; Chapter 4 - Models of School Health Delivery: The Growth of School- Based Clinics and Centers; Chapter 5 - Experiences in Arizona: The Development of New Clinics in a State With a Managed-Care Medicaid System; Chapter 6 - The Need to Protect the Future: The Impact of Changes in Welfare and Health Policies and Linkages with School ReferencesIndex; About the Author
Sommario/riassunto	Schools and the Health of Children examines the debate over the provision of school health programmes in USA. In this timely contribution to an important topic Jennie Jacobs Kronenfeld: defines the key issues in the debate; outlines the history of school health programmes; examines contemporary examples of school health care delivery; theorizes on the likely future of school health care.